Digital Discussions

Periodically in this class we will break into small groups to share resources, information and opinions about topics that are relevant to digital imaging. The groups will change and so will the theme of the discussions. Sometimes you will be asked to write a paragraph or two about a particular topic and post it online.

Topic 1: Photographer’s Web Sites

There are incredible resources on the Internet. Some of the most useful sites are those by photographers showcasing their work. Sometimes the sites are informational, sometimes inspirational.

Find a photographer’s site on the web that interests you. Explore the site and tell us what about the work affects you. Is it the subject matter, the composition, the color or tones, or all of the work together? Describe how you feel about the work and the presentation in two paragraphs. Tell us a little bit about the photographer’s background and philosophy, if you can. Be sure to post the URL for the site.

Post your report on the class wiki at <http://smith-pho127.pbwiki.com> under “Digital Discussion 1.”

We will meet in small groups to discuss what great work you’ve discovered.
